From the Pastor

Finis Ewing, Samuel King, Ephraim McLean, and Samuel McAdow were our denomination's founding fathers. They were called upon by God to proclaim the gospel on the new frontier of America. They felt driven by God to be voices for God crying in the wilderness. Their passion about what God called them to do and to go reminds me of others who came before them.

The gospel of Luke (quoting Isaiah) says: "The voice of one crying in the wilderness, make ready the way of the Lord. Make His paths straight. Every ravine shall be filled up and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the rough roads smooth, and all flesh shall see the salvation of the God."

Isaiah and John both faced opposition from the governing and / or religious authorities of their day. Judah's king Hezekiah had been supportive of the prophet Isaiah. Hezekiah had worked at removing the places where idolatrous worship was held. He also promoted Bible literacy among the people. But following his death, Manasseh was crowned the new king. He reinstated the very practices of idolatry and immorality that Hezekiah had almost eradicated. Manasseh would also pressure Isaiah to back off of his opposition to immorality and idol worship among the people. Isaiah was a true prophet of God though, and would not refrain from his stand and proclamation against the sins of the people of Judah, its leaders, or the unbelieving people of other nations. As a result, tradition says that Isaiah fell under great persecution from the Judah's political leader and was martyred by being cut in two (May be a reference to Isaiah found in the hall of faith in Hebrews 11:37: "Prophets...were stoned, they were sawn in two...").

Isaiah and John both paid the supreme price for their faithfulness to god and His Word with their very lives. Our

204 Denominational Anniversary by Ethan Harbour

2014 marks the 204th anniversary of the worship service that occurs on February 2, our Cumberland Presbyterian Church. It all started on a wintry evening on February 4, 1810 when Samuel McAdow entertained Finis Ewing, Samuel King, and Ephraim McLean at his cabin in Dickson, Tennessee. The three men (Ewing, King, and McLean) rode over 80 miles from Logan County, Kentucky to reach McAdow to seek his wisdom and insight.

As these men gathered, they represented the turmoil, controversies, alienations, and disaffections in the Presbyterian Church. Through prayer, careful approach, and God given wisdom, the CPC was born.

Fast forward to the twenty-first century, the CPC continues on the frontier in which it was born. The CPC is currently engaging in ministry all across the world. At present, the CPC has missionaries serving in various fields, helping to meet the most basic needs of people. In Colombia alone, the CPC missionaries along with a rapidly growing population of Colombian CP ministers, seminarians, and elders provide shelter to orphans as well as food to starving Colombians, medical assistance to those in need, and opportunities to worship God.

As we approach God, we are united with all our CP sisters and brothers worldwide when we gather in worship, especially of the

we will of course have a worship service dedicated to acknowledging the anniversary of our church, but we will also celebrate the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. This sacrament will not only unite us at FCPC but along with all of the CPs worldwide and the catholic church. The simplest meal – that of bread and wine represents the struggles of Jesus' life but also that of McAdow, Ewing, King, McLean, and our struggles as a church today.

The CPC, through its denominational ministries, such as Our United Outreach, provides many ministries to which we, even in Louisville, Kentucky, benefit. Ministries such as the Cumberland Presbyterian Children's Home in Denton, Texas provide shelter to vulnerable families, youth, and children – funded in part by CPs worldwide, which illustrates the love of Christ that we as "Christians" are supposed to show to the world.

Our founders, who intended not to create a new denomination, but to reform a broken institution wrought by historical practices that did not minister to great masses of populations within the United States, have in turn created a denomination with a history to which we that are called Cumberland Presbyterians should be proud. This church, which we call ours, is one that is seeking new opportunities to witness to those who are not loved, those in need, and those who Christ teaches us to care for most. Our denomination, steeped in its 204 years of history continues Calvin's (our Presbyterian founder) desire for continual reforms. Our church, as evidenced through its leadership, is truly the "hands and feet of Jesus Christ" at work here on the earth.

Rev. Louisa Mariah Layman Woosley

give equal rights to women in all areas of ministry through the ordination of Rev. Louisa M. L. Woosley in 1889 to the ministry of the Word and sacrament. Over the years, the CPC has affirmed and supported women's role in ministry as ordained Ministers of the Word and Sacrament, Ruling Elders, and full missionaries – a radical theological claim in the nineteenth century.

Exciting new opportunities still exist and are transpiring even today for our church. Presently, the CPC and the CPCA are undergoing a process of unification. By 2016, the two denominations will be one, seeking to annul the separation that racism has created within our church. The journey does not end there though. Many other reforms within our church still need to be made to rescind the unfortunate acts that we have endured.

As we celebrate our church's 204th anniversary throughout the month of February, we have a lot to be appreciative. The CPC was the first protestant church to

As we embark on our 204th year of the CPC, we have and continue to have a lot for which to be grateful. Through the leadership then and now by women and men answering God's call, our church continues to show the love of our Creator in our world.

May God be ever with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in America! In the name of the Creator, Redeemer, and Sustainer. Amen.

YOU ARE INVITED to a church-wide potluck celebrating the 204th anniversary of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Sunday, February 2. The menu is "Soups, Breads, and Desserts" so bring your favorite dish or drink and come and fellowship with us! After lunch, the play It Happened One February will be performed, remembering the 'happenings' during the creation of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in 1810. We will be celebrating the Lord's Supper during the worship service.

Cumberland Presbyterian ancestors may not have such fierce opposition that cost them their lives, but they were eventually rejected by their own presbytery and chose to form a new presbytery near the Cumberland River area near Nashville, TN.

But they remained faithful in proclaiming the gospel on the frontier of a young and expanding America. They were blessed and so too will we so long as we are faithful to the Lord and to the Scriptures.

Isaiah understood about perseverance. When he was not allowed to preach openly, he wrote. Some theologians believe that chapters 40 – 66 cover this period of his ministry. What he wrote in chapter 40 still resonates in God's children today: "Do you not know? Have you not heard? The everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth does not become weary or tired. His understanding is inscrutable. He gives strength to the weary, and to him who lacks might He increases power. Though youths grow weary and tired, and vigorous young men stumble badly, yet those who wait for the Lord will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary" (40:28-31).

Paul reaffirms this attitude and faithfulness when he writes in Galatians 6:9: "And let us not lose heart in doing good, for in due time we shall reap if we do not grow weary." May we listen to the Lord as He leads His church to minister on the frontiers He calls us to.

A New Year's Thought...

"USA Map"

A father wanted to read a magazine but was being bothered by his little girl. She wanted to know what the United States looked like.

Finally, he tore a sheet out of his new magazine on which was printed the map of the country. Tearing it into small pieces, he gave it to her and said, "Go into the other room and see if you can put this together."

After a few minutes, she returned and handed him the map, correctly fitted and taped together. The father was surprised and asked how she had finished so quickly.

"Oh," she said, "on the other side of the paper is a picture of Jesus. When I got all of Jesus back where he belonged, then our country just came together."

Therefore, when we get Jesus back where he belongs, our country will come together.
